

Ano novo

The year 2021 unfortunately was not easy for many people, and unfortunately every year there are many tragedies, and we know that challenges will always arise, that we all have enough capacity and willpower to go through them all, every day we live without having the exact notion of what can happen tomorrow, that's why we should enjoy our life as much as possible, not let people and obstacles make us give up the things we most want in life, that in 2022 we can put into practice everything we've learned from past disappointments, that the new year that is coming brings good things for all of us and the realization of dreams and achievements, that we can leave behind everything we did wrong, and give thanks for all the good things that have happened and that are to come, as difficult as the year has been, 2021 has made me meet amazing people, and it has already made it worthwhile.
