HISTORY

in an old house in the city of Lagoa D'anta, lived a successful couple named Antônio and Marta. They liked to attend many parties together. One day Marta went alone in one of them. The next day her husband heard rumors that he had been betrayed and went to meet Marta. He was furious and dissatisfied with her justification, said he wanted separation and went out with a friend to drink at a bar. Marta, very saddened by his decision, called a friend of hers to vent. Hours later, as they were talking, they heard a noise coming from the back door.

They were scared thinking it might be a thief. With many attempts the door opened, it was her husband drunk and in a very great rage. He carried a knife in his hand and without thinking twice he stabbed his wife. Antonio, regretful, left the city and a few days later he discovered that this rumor had been invented by his friend who wanted to conquer Marta. With much remorse, he couldn't bear the guilt and killed himself. The house they lived in was demolished and a school was built on the site. It is believed that these days Marta's spirit wanders through the school.
